

Citizens with a high school degree or above are more likely to support democratic and republican party

